From the Pastors

Dear Parish Family,

If the Holy Spirit changes our hearts, why do we still struggle with sin? Luther deals with this question in many places. One of them is in his interpretation of Psalm 51. In this psalm King David asks the Lord to create a clean heart in him. According to the superscription the context for the psalm is when the prophet Nathan went to speak to the king about his sin with Bathsheba. Even David, favored of the Lord, required forgiveness of sins.

In his commentary, Luther writes that the difference between true saints and sham saints is that true saints are aware of their sins. They know that they are not what they should and want to be. We are daily in need of forgiveness of our sins. The false saints believe that they have no sin. In their pride they justify themselves before God. But, we must pray until death, "Forgive us our trespasses."

From our birth, Luther continues, we are sinners. Adam must die so that Christ may arise completely. Only death will free us from the struggle with the old Adam/Eve.

Coram Deo

Living in the presence of God

Meets: Mondays at 7:30 in the Parlor, Sept. - June

Coram Deo is a literary group at Holy Trinity led by Pastor Mike and Nancy King-Berkovitz. If you love literature, wish you knew more about literature, or want to discuss books and poetry within a Christian context, this is your kind of book club.

See you there!

Even if we are outwardly righteous, we can never be so inwardly until we enter life after death. To claim inward purity in this life is self-seeking. Instead, we must know ourselves inwardly and always seek our righteousness in God through Christ. We become clean through the blood of Christ. The outward works of man cannot remove sin, only the inward work of God. Only God can create a clean heart. Inner righteousness cannot be attained in this life, but we must always seek it. A new heart in us can only be achieved by God Himself. The heart will be thoroughly cleansed on the day we enter the heavenly city. The old Adam/Eve can be eliminated only by our physical death. Those who have a good will formed by the Holy Spirit freely serve God in all circumstances. We are made pious through God's own action.

We must attend to Luther's words, which are rooted in the biblical teaching. We continue to come back to the Word of God time and time again to receive forgiveness through the power of the Holy Spirit. When we die, God will win in us the final victory. Until then, we pray with David, "Create in me a clean heart, O God."

In Christ,
The Rev. Dr. Michael G. Tavella
The Rev. N. Amanda Grimmer

Earl & Judi Reeder's Road to Estonia – Part 3

We thought that this month we would tell you a little about the country we all have been praying for the last few months.

Geographically, Estonia is on the north-eastern edge of the European Union, bordering Russia and Latvia. Estonia has a population of just 1.3 million but is larger than Denmark or Holland.

The Estonian language's a finno-ugric language - resembles most to Finnish and is different from the Latvian and Russian language. Estonia was occupied by the Soviets for decades but Estonia sees itself as more influenced by Nordic tastes and traditions - Scandinavia with a twist.

Tallinn is the medieval capital and by far the biggest city, with a population of around 400,000. Tallinn is located in the north-eastern part of the country almost directly south of Helsinki, Finland. Tartu, with 100,000 people, is the young yet timeless university town where we will be working. Tartu is located about 200 km south east of Tallinn and is about 50 km west of the Russian border.

Since the 16th century, Estonia has been a predominantly protestant (Lutheran) country. Our Mission is a Bible Camp in Tartu at the Tartu Academy of Theology.

A typical Estonian would like to portray himself as hard-working, reliable, smart, innovative and friendly. Though these qualities are all true, they are often kept as a hidden treasure. In attempt to avoid being seen as obtrusive or aggressive, Estonians (even service staff) keep to themselves and wait for you to make the first move. Once there, you will be greeted with an honest and kind attitude. Compliments given by an Estonian are genuine, handshakes are valid and invitations heartfelt. No wonder many people claim Estonians make the best of friends.

The Estonian sense of humor is dry, sarcastic and quite often politically incorrect. In Europe, it is most similar to the British one – jokes at their own expense are popular, though you are much more likely to get a grin and not open laughter as a response.

Estonia is one of the most non-religious countries in the world but Estonians value traditions. Often, Christian holidays and rituals are followed or mixed with pagan ones. A good example is All Saints Day on 2nd of November: the day before, many visit churches and graves of the lost family members, and at night, candles are lit on the windows of thousands of Estonian homes to greet the wandering souls.

Children go to school for 12 years, starting from the age of 7, and even though math, physics and science are a huge part of the curriculum, they all learn at least 2 other languages. Most commonly, Russian and English are taught at school; French, German and Swedish are popular alternatives.

June 6, 2014

Dear Holy Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church,

Thank you so much for your generous donation of household and baby items to the mothers at the Cradle of Hope. It is very kind of you to remember us. Your donation is extremely valuable and the items you collected are ones used regularly at the home. We deeply appreciate your interest in our desire to provide housing for one year to homeless mothers and their babies.

Ceitera, one of our recent residents, moved to her own apartment in September after completing her year at the Cradle of Hope. She finished training, and began working as an adviser in the Philadelphia Prison System last fall. Khadijah is working as a teacher's aide in Philadelphia. Crystal and Paulisha are taking summer classes at Montgomery County Community College, and working to pursue their associate's degrees. The babies at the Cradle of Hope- Essence, Heidi, Krista- are thriving.

Our transitional housing program requires that each resident be attending school and/or working while in the program. Your gift also blesses each child. As the mothers obtain education, employment and permanent housing, the cycle of poverty is reversed and the children's lives are permanently affected.

During their year at the Cradle of Hope, we have seen the young women grow in confidence, strength, and hope. With weekly Bible study, workshops on parenting, nutrition and other topics, each mother sets goals for her life and works with the staff and volunteers to achieve those goals. With your gift, you have helped this ministry to continue.

Sincerely,
Betsy Stoltzfus
Director, Cradle of Hope

Dear Holy Trinity family,

June 6, 2014

Thanks to you we collected: 3 baby outfits, 4 boxes of diapers, 3 boxes of baby wipes, 8 tubes of toothpaste, 4 bottles of laundry soap, 1 roll of aluminum foil, 1 roll of Saran wrap, 3 boxes of Brillo pads, 7 bottles of Soft scrub, 12 bottles of disinfectant wipes, 2 rolls of paper towels, 26 rolls of toilet paper, and 1 box of sandwich bags, 4 cans of Scrubbing bubbles cleaner, 4 cans of Lysol spray.

We also received $75 in gift cards and $30 in cash. Cradle of Hope is able to stay on budget every year because of your generosity.

Thank you,

Become a Missionary without Leaving Your Hometown

How can you become a missionary without leaving your community? The answer is to help Holy Trinity collect shoeboxes. Every time you make a shoe purchase, please consider donating your box for our annual Operation Christmas Child project. We hope to fill twice as many shoeboxes as last year for children in need throughout the world. These shoeboxes not only bring children items they can use and enjoy in everyday life, they are also packed with the Gospel story in each child's language. For many children and their families, these gift-filled shoeboxes bring the love of Jesus in a new and exciting way and lead them to a relationship with the Savior and worship at their local church.

While many of you will personally pack shoeboxes, we will also need your support in providing even more shoeboxes for wider church project. Last year, approximately 2/3 of the shoeboxes collected at Holy Trinity were prepared by individual church members and the other 1/3 were prepared by a dedicated group of church members who wanted to be sure that even more children were reached. They gave time on a Saturday morning in November to come to a group shoebox-filling session. We will hold that session again this fall.

Watch for shoebox dates and more details in the fall Echoes and visit our website at www.holytrinity.net click on How do I find out about?... on our home page and you will find Operation Christmas Child Shoeboxes in the drop down list.
